GRASS with GRA

. . . For More Milk All Summe

Every dairyman likes the boost in milk pro cows get from lush pasture. He knows it means lars in the milk check . . . and at lower feed co

But dairymen know, too, that pasture can't d Supplementary dry feed . . . including grain for its counter laxative effect. This supplement helps the cows hold body weight, keeps them in b to produce up to inherited capacity.

And pasture quality changes, too, as the s gresses. Grasses become dry and less palatable, less as the weather gets hotter. Supplementary comes even more important then.

We'll be glad to recommend a specific progr to your herd, your pastures. The Beacon Pastur program has helped thousands of dairymen pro milk . . . profitably. Chances are it can help

Delmarva - Georgia Prices Slip Supplies Good

Delmarva reported prices of 16.70 to 18.80 for 804,700 head at farms during the 24-hour period ending 10.30 a. m. Friday.

Prices averaged slightly lower with live supplies fully adequate for demand.

Estimated slaughter in Delmarva for the week end was 555,000 compared to the 624,000 head last week end.

The Delmarva broiler-feed ratio for the week ending on March 25 regained the point it had lost the previous week. Broilers made 18 02 and mash cost $91.22 per ton for a ratio of 4.0.

Georgia reported prices of 17 to 18.5 for 1,303,900 head at farms Estimated slaughter by Georgia processors was 1,491,000 for the week-end.

Fluid Milk Production Still On The Increase

Production of fluid milk continued to increase in all areas. Offerings were in excess of trading needs except at Atlanta where supplies were in balance with demand. Demand at Philadelphia showed some improvement, but was only fair at New York and Boston. Some surplusses moving to cottage cheese production. Price for bottling quality milk at New York was unchanged at 5.12 to 5.17 per 40 quart unit.

Have You Ever Been A Football?

In the silly little verse about the purple cow, the author winds up by telling the wide world that he'd rather see than be one.

All of us have seen a football; almost all of us have touched one, at least once, and quite a few of us have even played in a game with one. Now it looks like farmers are going to get a chance to BE one.

The American farmer or at least the farm situation, is going to be in for a heap of kicking around in the next few months.

Organized football of the kind we usually think about begins in the fall and runs into the winter, or until the season is over.

The kind of football game in which the farmer becomes the object of the well directed, or misdirected kicks has already begun. It will become more feverish through the summer and come to a climatic turmoil just before election day.

Agriculture is not the only target for the pointed toes of the politicians, but it seems that it is one of the favorite targets.

Already one would-be nominee has declared that his first official duty would be to replace the Secretary of Agriculture with someone with the needs of the farmer at heart. During the same broadcast, wherein that pronouncement was made, another announced candidate was directing a few strokes of the political toe at Mr. Rural America. He pictured the farmer as living in a world well padded with the hard earned dollars of the poor laboring people, and the horn of plenty filled with tax dollars raining down wealth for any farmer to gather in.

This is just the beginning. Before the campaign is very much older, nearly every political hopeful from township supervisor on up will feel called upon to take his turn at trying for a field goal.

"And why not", is the attitude of many politicians. The farmer is notoriously independent in his voting. There is no strong union to bring pressure to bear on the farm vote. The farmer is no longer a majority or even a large percentage of the electorate. But there has been so much publicity, some of it entirely false, about phases of the farm situation, that the politician can have a ready audience any time he desires to make a statement or any segment of agriculture.

The worst is yet to come. The referee has hardly tooted the opening whistle and already we are feeling the boots. We had better toughen up our hides. It is going to be a tough game, and the spikes are sharper than ever.

At least that's how it looks from where we stand.

MAID SERVICE

Fifty years ago dad planted the buckwheat, and when it was ripe, he harvested it and took it to the mill. Mother took the flour he brought home and mixed it with buttermilk she had churned from the milk she had taken from the cow. She added, some other ingredients and set the whole batter in a warm place until the next day. With some fresh flour, more buttermilk and other ingredients added at breakfast time, mother would be ready to fry up a batch of buckwheat cakes.

This morning the nine-year-old daughter got up three minutes before dad, went to the shelf and took down a box of ready mixed, self rising, nonlumping, buttermilk buckwheat cake mix, poured a few spoonfuls into a jar, added a prescribed amount of water, and in "ten shakes", by the makers instructions, she poured out golden pancakes on the electric griddle, (set according to instructions).

In grandmother's day, the rich could afford servants. In this day, the housewife demands and gets her maid service built in. This is what we pay for at the grocery store.

Now home economists and food processing companies tell us that we haven't seen anything yet in "convenience foods". Already some packages cost more than the food they contain, but many new products are being dreamed up every day.

Announced but not yet on the market generally is a synthetic potato skin for those who like to eat baked potato skins, but want them standardized. One company is marketing "cook-in-pouch" frozen foods that do not have to be thawed and no pan needs to be washed. Many other innovations are on the way to release Mrs. America from the kitchen.

Most of us can not afford maids, but we are all on the way to paying for built-in maid service at the grocery store.

Master Teacher

Lesson for April 3, 1960

PEOPLE WHO knew Jesus of Nazareth thought of him as a teacher. Jesus thought of himself as a teacher. The title given him most often in the Gospels is Teacher. When he rose from the dead and Mary Magdalene recognized him, she called him Rabboni, My Teacher. Jesus said to his disciples (a word which itself means pupils), "You call me teacher and Lord, and you are right, for so I am." (John 13:13.) Jesus expected his teachings to be taken seriously. "Why do you call me 'Lord, Lord" and not do what I tell you?" he asked. (Luke 6:46) A man who hears Jesus' sayings and does not do them, is like a man building a house on sand. (Matt. 7:26). "The words that I have spoken to you are spirit and life," he said. (John 6:63.) It is absurd, it is even wicked, for a man to claim to be a Christian, and by-pass the teachings of Jesus.

Dr. Foreman

Jesus' Theme

When we hear that some one is a teacher, the first thing we ask, if we are interested, is: What does he teach? Jesus' great theme, his subject, was a tremendous one: LIFE. One reason why he is called the Master Teacher is that his theme was the most important, the most all-inclusive, in the world. We can make this more definite. We can put this in three ways. 1. Jesus taught about Life in the Kingdom of God, or to put this another way, he taught what it means to be a citizen of the Kingdom of God, or—to say it still another way—he taught what kind of behavior God requires of those who want to live in his kingdom. 2. Jesus taught about Life as God wills it. Everybody lives somehow, or at least exists; and if you look about you,

The Golden Mirror

There hangs in the official office of the Vice President in the Senate wing of the Capitol Building a mirror that, if it were granted the gift of speech, could tell an interesting story.

Sen. Karl E. Mundt of South Dakota took the time recently to look up the story of the "Dolly Madison Golden Mirror," and to tell it in a recent letter which he sends regularly to his friends back home

The story, we think, is worth retelling.

Dolly Madison, the charming wife of our fourth President, James Madison, purchased a small gold mirror while in Paris with her husband, who was on official business.

She paid $50 in American money but on returning to New York found there was a $30 customs fee due on the mirror Mrs. Madison charged it the the official account, and the government paid the fee.

In due course, the audit committee of the Senate, in checking the salaries and expenses of the White House, came across the $30 custom fee charge. There being no authorization for such an expenditure, an investigation was begun to determine whether Mrs. Madison was guilty of wrong-doing.

After weeks of investigation the committee named to look into the charge decided there was no basis for prosecution and advised that the "case of the golden mirror" be dropped.

The committee, however, submitter a bill of $2,800 to cover cost of the investigation. There is no record of how the mirror, which cost taxpayers $2,830, got from Dolly Madison to the Vice President's office.

Whispering Chandelier

Sen. Mundt tells the story of another decoration in the same office; a chandelier that was purchased by Thomas Jefferson, also in France It is made of Bohemian crystals and has all sterling silver clips and chains.

When Jefferson became the third President, he had the chandelier placed in the White House and it remained over the President's desk until the term of Theodore Roosevelt.

It is said Mr. Roosevelt was distracted by the wind blowing over the chandelier prisms when the windows

Farm Accident Reports Needed

Harrisburg, March 29 — State Secretary of Agriculture William L. Henning today asked that the Department of Agriculture be provided with information on the frequency and circumstances of highway accidents involving farm equipment.

In a memorandum to O. D. Shipley, Commissioner of Highway Safety, Secretary Henning said that the accidental death and injury rate on the farm is the highest in any industry.

Secretary Henning pointed out that National Safety Council statistics and informal surveys by the Pennsylvania Rural Safety Council indicate that many farmers and motorists are injured or killed each year in farm equipment-automobile accidents on highways. "However, there appears,' Secretary Henning said, "to be a lack of information on the number and characteristics of such accidents in Pennsylvania."

Special permits are needed to move large self-propelled farm machines on major highways. Movement of farm equipment on secondary highways requires no special supervision or permit.

Farmers Plan More Crops For 1960

Harrisburg, March 22 — More corn, rye, tobacco and soybeans and less oats and potatoes will be grown this year in Pennsylvania, according to farmer's March 1 intentions.

The State Agriculture Department agency pointed out that these are intentions and may not materialize. Winterkill of small grains, weather and soil conditions at planting time, economic conditions and other factors, even effects of this report, may affect these intentions.

Winter wheat acreage, planted in the fall of 1959 for harvest in 1960, was less than a year earlier at 546,000 acres. Barley is down 20,000 acres to total 179,000 acres.

Total feed grain acreage will be about the same as last year. Corn farmers intend to plant 1,325,000 acres, 2 per cent more than they planted last year. Oats acreage is down about 1 per cent to 772,000 acres. As of March 1 there had been little damage to fall-sown grains from freezing and thawing. Heavy snows in late February and early March will probably keep winter-kill to a minimum.

Cigar leaf tobacco intentions at 32,000 acres is 1,000 acres or about 3 percent above 1959. Brisk demand and favorable prices for the 1959 crop are factors in this increase.

Hay acreage is expected to be about the same as last year, 2,274,000 acres

Penna. Potato Co-op Reelects Leland Nixon

Harrisburg (AP) — Le'and W. Nixon of State University was reelected president of the Pennsylvania Potato Growers Assn. Wednesday.

The board chose one new officer at its annual reorganization meeting. Ivan Miller, Corry, as treasurer. Miller succeeds George W. Tallman of Tower City.

Reelected were Robert Harwood, Wattsburg, Erie County, first vice-president; Harold Rice, Jersey Shore, second vice president; Carl Wotring, Schneckville, third vice president, and Leon Epler, Northumberland, secretary.

Owen L. Barkley was reelected general manager.

Nut Growers Association Demonstration On Grafting

A series of nut tree grafting demonstrations have been scheduled in Lancaster and surrounding counties during April and May by the Pennsylvania Nut Growers Association.

The Lancaster County demonstration will be held at the farm of John S. Brenneman, Lancaster R6 at 9:30 a.m. on Saturday, April 9. The Brenneman farm is located on Route 324 near New Danville.

The purpose of the demonstrations, according to George G. Weber, secretary treasurer of the association is to explain the technique involved in various methods of grafting which are used in propagating nut trees, and point out cautions needed in grafting nuts to be successful.

Meetings are open to anyone whether or not members of the association. "While nut trees are somewhat more difficult to graft fruit trees can be done successfully by most anyone who takes time to handle a sharp knife," Weber said in announcing the demonstrations.

Producing Hybrids Since 1935

Restricted pullet feeding: important facts on a highly profitable plan—

All growing pullets—light, medium and heavy strains—must be stricted for future profitable production. .How MUCH restriction has be a problem, but Early Bird's experience provides the answer.

Since oats are one-third fiber, indigestible by poultry, increasing t amount of oats in the ration reduces the rate of growth and fat deposit in pullets. Early Bird Growing Mash, fed with 50% oats in confinement, 60% on the range, restricts pullet growth exactly enough so that they are PROPER CONDITION when put into the laying house.

OVERrestriction, on the other hand, results in UNDERdeveloped bi that must complete their growth later, in the laying house, reducing ultim flock returns. If excessive amounts of indigestible fibrous materials are f in a growing ration, feed requirements are greatly increased, resulting in mo higher pullet costs.

Nineteen pounds or less of 50-50 (in confinement), or 60-40 (on rang oats and Early Bird Growing Mash are enough to grow a Leghorn pullet producing maturity. (Early Bird #41 All Mash Developer is similar in nutr tive value to a ration of 60% oats and 40% Early Bird Growing Mash.) T Early Bird program is a proven economical, highly efficient system which w produce pullets capable of HIGH and SUSTAINED egg production at LO COST.

Your future egg production costs and flock performance will depend up the way you feed and manage your replacement stock now.

Two Co. Herds Tie For First Place In DHIA

The herds of Paul Zimmerman, Ephrata R1 and E Edwin Parkin, Peach Bottom R2 each posted a record of 55 pounds of butterfat per cow to tie for top record in the Red Rose Dairy Improvement Association during February.

The Zimmerman herd of 25 registered Holsteins averaged 1,446 lbs of milk and 55 lbs. of fat with 3 8% test. The Parkin herd of 21 cows made its record on an average of 1,363 lbs of milk with a 4 0% test.

In second place with an average of 1,319 lbs. of milk, 53 lbs of butterfat and a 4.0% test was the herd of 20 grade and registered Holsteins owned by Mervin Hershey, Bainbridge R1.

By Mrs. Richard C. Spence

Many food markets are featuring cheese in their specials during the Lenten period. Take advantage of these savings and provide your family with extra nourishment as a premium Here are a few suggestions you might like to try:

1. Cheese and eggs compliment each other in Cheese Baked Eggs—a meatless dish for Lent For each serving, pour 2 tablespoons milk or cream into baking dish. Carefully break in 2 eggs, season with salt, pepper and paprika, dot with 1 tablespoon of butter and top with ¾ tablespoons of shredded sharp Cheddar cheese Bake in a 350 degree oven for 15 minutes or until eggs are desired firmness A drop or two of Worcestershire and Tobasco sauces may be added to the milk or cream for extra zip.

2 Have you served French fried cheese sandwiches lately? Don't forget this family favorite during Lent. For each sandwich, dip two slices of bread into an egg-milk mixture, fill with cheese and grill on both sides in flavorful butter. Creddar, Brick, Swiss or Gruyere make tasty sandwich choices.

3 This cheesy potato dish is delectable To make 6 servings in a buttered shallow baking pan, arrange in a single layer 2 packages French fried potato sticks. Brush with ¼ cup (½ stick) melted butter and sprinkle with 1 teaspoon onion salt and paprika. Bake 20-25 minutes in a preheated 425 degree oven. Remove from oven and sprinkle with ½ cup grated Parmesan cheese, shaking pan so potatoes are evenly coated.

4. Red-wrapped Edam filled with a tangy cheese spread adds color and good taste to your Hors d'oeuvre tray. Cut the top from a small Edam, scoop out center of cheese and mash thoroughly. Add 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 tablespoon prepared mustard, 1 teaspoon of mixed herbs, 2 tablespoons sour cream and a few grains cayenne pepper. Refill cheese shell and serve as a spread with assorted crackers.

5. Freshly shredded Cheddar cheese is a wonderful topping for fruit salad—sprinkle it over cooked green vegetables or top hamburgers with shredded Cheddar.

6. When ravenous appetites demand food fast, serve Ham and Swiss cheese sandwiches. Chopped ham, mixed with salad dressing, tops slices of nutty-flavored Swiss cheese. These sandwiches are delicious broiled and served hot, too . . .

7. Next time you make a tossed green salad, crumble some Blue cheese on top. You will want to serve it again soon! Blue cheese spread on "party" rye slices and then topped with black olive rings adds just the right touch to an appetizer or snack tray.

8. Add a different flavor to deviled eggs—a Blue cheese flavor. Make "Blue - Devil" eggs this way: hard-cook 8 eggs, peel, halve and remove yolks. Mash yolks and blend with ½ of 1 (4-ounce) triangle of Blue cheese, 1 tablespoon prepared mustard, 1 teaspoon Worcester sauce, a few drops of T co sauce and 1 tablespo butter, softened. Fill halves with yolk mi Serve cold or as a hot in mild Cheddar c sauce.

Two Way Biscuits — one of these biscuits boasts the piquant flavor of blue cheese the other hints of toasted sesame seeds.

TWO-WAY BISCUITS

BLUE CHEESE BISCUITS
1½ cups sifted enriched flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons sugar
3 tablespoons shortening
½ cup crumbled blue cheese (about 2 ounces)
½ to ⅔ cup milk

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Cut or rub in shortening until mixture is crumbly. Stir in cheese. Add mi'k to make a soft dough. Turn out on floured board or pastry cloth and knead gently 30 seconds. Roll dough about ½-inch thick. Cut with 1-inch biscuit cutter. Bake in very hot oven (450 degrees) 10 to 12 minutes. Makes 1½ dozen biscuits.

SESAME SEED BISCUITS

For blue cheese, substitute ¼ cup toasted seasame seeds. (If desired, split biscuits while hot and fill with slice of sharp cheese.)

Flavor Meals

from pan and cool on wire rack

Cheese adds a special flavor to this Salmon Shell Casserole.

SALMON SHELL CASSEROLE

8 ounces elbow macaroni
¼ cup butter or margarine
⅓ cup minced onion
⅓ cup minced parsley
⅓ cup enriched flour
1½ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
3 cups milk
1 cup shredded sharp cheese
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
1 cup drained flaked salmon (7-ounce can)
Buttered bread crumbs

Cook macaroni in boiling salted water until tender (about 7 minutes). Drain. While macaroni is cooking, melt butter or margarine in large saucepan. Add onion and parsley and cook for five minutes, stirring occasionally. Stir in flour, salt and pepper., Add milk gradually, stirring constantly. Blend in cheese, then pimiento and salmon. Add macaroni to salmon mixture and turn into lightly greased 2-quart casserole Top with buttered crumbs Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) about 25 minutes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Another salmon and-cheese combination - this time it's a salad and the cheese is cottage cheese. A fish mold would be perfect for this salad, but should this not be handy, your ring mold or 9-inch square pan will do just as nicely.

DOUBLE DECKER SALAD LOAF

CHEESE LAYER

½ tablespoon unflavored gelatin
2 tablespoons cold milk
¼ cup hot milk
3 cups cottage cheese, sieved
¼ teaspoon onion, minced
¼ teaspoon salt

Soften gelatin in cold milk and dissolve in hot milk Combine with remaining ingredients. Chill until mixture begins to thicken Pour into mold which has been rinsed in cold water. Refrigerate until firm.

SALMON LAYER

2 cups red salmon, flaked
1 cup cooked salad dressing.
½ cup finely chopped celery
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ tablespoon unflavored gelatin
2 tablespoons cold water

Combine salmon, salad dressing, celery and lemon juice. Soften gelatin in cold water for five minutes, then dissolve over hot water Add to salmon mixture Combine Pour over cheese layer

Serve the mold on a large platter garnished with a ring tomato stuffed with cottage cheese and with twists of lemon slices studded with whole cloves Use slices of stuffed olives for the eyes and strips of colorful pimiento for the tail to give the fish personality.

Joy on Wednesday evening, did not keep the genial Associate County Agent from the business of the evening for very long. After a thank you to the group and acceptance of a new working model of the well worn silver plated instrument from Ralph Gamber, member of the association, Sloat said he expects to use the new tool very soon. He then proceeded to instruct the beekeepers in the spring care of their colonies He urged immediate inspection of all colonies to make sure there is an ample supply of food sugar for the bees in the hive. Inspection of colonies for foulbrood should also be done at this time, and infected colonies should be treated with antibiotics or sulfa drugs in syrup solutions.

In other business the association returned John Lapp, Bareville, to the office of president for his second consecutive term.

Reelected along with Lapp were James Messner, Terre Hill, vice president, and Walter Becker, Mount Joy R2, secretary-treasurer.

in Buildings," was written by R. A. St. George, H. R. Johnson, and R. J. Kowal of the Division of Forest Insect Research of USDA's Forest Service

Illustrated with numerous photographs and line drawings, the booklet suggests points to watch for and pitfalls to avoid in building or buying In "do-it-yourself language it tells how to conduct regular inspection for termites, and how a home owner can counter-attack if invaded

There are also sections on chemical treatment of woods, and chemical preventive and control methods in general

The authors point out that some woods are by their nature more resistant than others to termites So far as is known, the kinds and grades of lumber most resistant to termite attack are foundation grade California redwood, all-heart southern tidewater red cypress, very pitchy southern pine—"lightwood", and heartwood of eastern red cedar

Native Trout Outlive Their Hatchery Kin

The majority of fish caught by anglers come from natural reproduction, even from lakes and streams in which hatchery fish have been stocked, reports Edwin L. Cooper, fisheries biologist for the Agricultural Experiment Station, the Pennsylvania State University.

Cooper says this statement is verified in a review of 164 world-wide studies of trout management, published under the title "Trout Stocking as an Aid to Fish Management," Bulletin 663 of the Agricultural Experiment Station. The bulletin is free on request from the Agricultural Mailing Room, University Park, Pa.

Essential differences between native trout populations and domesticated, hatchery trout should be recognized, Cooper feels. It is too much to expect hatchery trout to survive in a natural environment at the same rate as wild fish, in his opinion.

Based on the large number of trials by different investigators, he reports that returns from hatchery trout are likely to occur when trout of any size are stocked in lakes, ponds, or streams where there is little or no competition from fish alrealy present, or when catchable - sized trout are stocked where heavy fishing is exerted promptly. Under other circumstances, recovery of stocked fish is likely to be low, the studies show.

Trout lay many eggs, he points out and 400 young are a common, average brood of fry. Of these, he declares, only two need to live two years, the length of time required for maturity, to maintain the original pair of stock fish. This amounts to only one-half of one per cent survival.

Opinions as to the type of trout management wanted by anglers range, he says, from "no stocking; fish for fun only" to "completely artificial propagation, put and-take fishing" Accurate appraisals of the desires of the fishermen seldom are made,

NEW BARN EQUIPMENT

As a milk conveyor Ivan Parkin, Penn State extension dairy specialist, likes the around-the-barn pipeline.

Other types of milk conveyors include the single line system and the dumping or pumping station.

CARE FOR LAMBS

Bad luck during the lambing season too often is the result of poor management and lack of preparation, reminds Frank Kreuzberger, Penn State livestock specialist The shepherd must care for his flock.

Esteron 99 — kills weeds that other weed killers find too hard to handle . . . yet costs as little as 25¢ an acre

It's not what a 2,4-D costs—but what it controls that counts. More farmers buy and rely on Esteron 99*—for they find it's too costly to experiment with less-known brands. Tests show it's extra effective and easy to apply . . . doesn't foam . . . mixes easily in hard water, and sprays evenly. A single gallon covers many acres—an extra bushel an acre more than pays the cost. Order your supply of America's leading brand of weed killer today.

Fully Mounted . . . yet pulled from a single hitch point

Allis-Chalmers No. 63 3-bottom plow —
- Fully mounted for turning, transport and corner-plowing convenience.
- Pulls from single hitchpoint with low, natural line of draft . . . eliminates side draft even when plowing on the contour.
- Works with TRACTION BOOSTER system for shifting of weight to rear tractor wheels as needed.

Put a new Allis-Chalmers No. 63 plow in your field behind a D-14, WD or WD-45 Tractor. Find out how easy good plowing can be. Also available is the No. 62 2-bottom plow with same features. See us for the correct moldboard plow for your soil.

TRACTION BOOSTER is an Allis-Chalmers trademark.

the assistance rendered to the chapter. Receiving the degree were George C. Delp, President of New Holland Machine Co; A. B. C. Groff, machinery Dealer from New Holland; Robert P. Simon, Supervising Principal of the New Holland High School, and Ivan S. Witwer, President of the Eastern Lancaster County School Board.

Solanco

Grant (Tick) Hurst, Teacher at McCaskey High School was the main speaker at the Solanco FFA Banquet. Mr. Hurst presented his usual humorous and informative speech to the nearly 200 boys, fathers and guests.

Richard Green presented letters of commendation to the six winners of the Keystone Farmer Degrees. T. M. Malin, Area Advisor of the York-Lancaster Area FFA, reported that only one other chapter in the state had as many as six Keystone Degree winners. Keystone Farmers from Solanco are, H. Lee DeLong, H. Ross Ferguson, John Graham, A. Clyde Kreider, G. William Welch, and Donald Trimble.

Garden Spot

Honorary Chapter Farmer degrees were conferred on five men by the Garden Spot Chapter at Lampeter Thursday night.

LeRoy Andrews, Father of Burnell was awarded the degree in recognition of his help in assisting Burnell to win the Keystone Farmer degree. John Wiker, father of John Wiker, Jr. and William Pollard, father of Timothy Deacon, were also honored as fathers of Keystone Farmer degree winners.

Landis Herr, farm machinery dealer, was honored for the assistance rendered to the chapter by furnishing machinery and facilities for use in the instructional program.

Art teacher at the school, I. Diller Miller, received the award in appreciation for the help he had given in publicity and art work for the chapter.

Main speaker for the evening was Miss Kay Sollenberger, chapter sweetheart She explained her duties in informing the public about the activities of the Future Farmers chapter at Lampeter-Strasburg.

Larry Weaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Weaver, of New Holland R1, is shown accepting the award of $25 00 in recognition of his selection as the Star Farmer of the Grasslands Chapter FFA at the first annual banquet of the group at the New Holland High School recently. Presenting the award to the ninth-grade student and vice president of the chapter is William Weaver representing the Blue Ball National Bank, donors of the award. —LF PHOTO
